

Guiding Statements

Mission

Shrewsbury International School Phnom Penh educates and empowers each individual pupil to flourish in life and contribute positively to the world around them.

Vision

- Shrewsbury International School Phnom Penh will become an co-educational day and boarding school, providing quality education for the whole age.
- The School will be a leading school in the country and the wider region, securing outstanding outcomes for pupils in terms of academic achievement, co-curricular opportunities, university placement and, above all, development of character.
- The school will be recognised for its distinctive ethos and culture, both derived from the Floreat model and Salopian Virtues.
- The School will operate in city centre and out-of-town locations; "One school, two campuses".
- Facilities will be impressive and the best in the country. The School will host ambitious events in the sports, creative arts and other competitions and conferences.
- Shrewsbury International School Phnom Penh will become a beacon and facilitator of high quality practices in Cambodia, such as child safeguarding, community partnerships and professional development.

School Aims

- To provide an aspirational academic education which is underpinned by the notion learning should be 'serious fun'.
- To provide an ambitious co-curricular programme essential for whole person development.
- To provide high levels of challenge and support to pupils in order that they may realise their potential.
- To develop boarding into a 'home away from home' which is perceived to offer significant advantages to pupils.
- To embed the Floreat model and Sapolian virtues at the heart of all areas of provision.
- To recruit and maintain a teaching body of high calibre dedicated to the Shrewsbury ethos.
- To attract and maintain a pupil body which is diverse and capable of benefiting from a Shrewsbury education in Cambodia.
- To build positive and purposeful partnerships between the School and other institutions in order to realise the vision.

Ethos and Educational Philosophy

The School is a British international school whose ethos and values are forever tied to those of Shrewsbury School in the UK. Its ethos and educational philosophy draws on the distinct and powerful articulation of approach and values from Shrewsbury School.

From Early Years to Sixth Form, the school creates a rich, enabling environment for all children to engage with learning in a way that encourages individuality. Intellectual exploration, critical thinking, self-expression and self-reflection are all cultivated.

The School delivers a values-based, holistic education that expects pupils to become 'the best versions of themselves' in accordance with the Floreat model and associated Salopian virtues.

The School integrates Cambodian culture and language into the curriculum and recognises host-country traditions and events; Shrewsbury International School Phnom Penh will be a diverse and inclusive community where everybody will feel welcome and respected.

A school 'like no other'

Shrewsbury International School Phnom Penh, due to its unique heritage, vision and ethos, is truly a school like no other in Cambodia. The School offers a hugely attractive option for schooling in the country and the region.
